Long ago I came to the earth. I came to give the new birth.
I came for all people of every nation.
So God and man could have a good relation.
I came to save the sinner.
I came to make you a winner. And to make the weak strong, And to right the wrong.
I came to fix the mess Adam made.
To cleanse from sin, the price I have already paid.
I came to bring righteousness and set man free.
So in sin he would not forever be.
I came to heal the broken hearted.
To bring man back to the way he started.
I came to give man hope, And grace so he could cope.
A second chance I came to give. I came and died so he could live.
Giving him good things; it is My pleasure.
Life without end, love and joy without measure.
I came to bless those in need.
I came with God's Word; I sowed good seed.
I came to give not to take.
I came to do good for man's sake.
I came to tell you God loves you.
I came and did what God told Me to do.
The good news I came to tell, I died, you live, all will be well.
