

Holy Spirit

Written by Philip C. Vinson
Sunday, 29 June 2008 18:25 -

Thank You for the Holy Spirit, He is always near, And when I need Him most, He says: "I am here."

When hope seems to be slipping away,

He comes and replaces even more for that day.

Holy Spirit, I am glad You dwell within, With You in my heart there is no room for sin.

Day by day, You show me the way, You reveal to me my directions for the day.

The strong hold that I was facing today, Holy Spirit, You help each day to find my way.

I want to listen to what You have to say,

So I can help someone You place in my path today.

Holy Spirit, You know the need for speed, In this world of doubt and greed. Can't we see there is such a need?

The world with the gospel, we must feed?

There is much more yet to do, And some of it is for me and you.

There is a race to be run.

At the finish line are the Father and the Son.

Thank You for keeping me on the path I must go, Your will for my life I want to know.

If someone does slip or fall along the way, Help me to help them, to begin a new day.

Holy Spirit, You are welcome in me, Because without You nothing would I be.

The things of Christ You reveal,

And to our hearts God's word You make real.