Those silver threads in your hair, have they now turned white?
Just remember for a long time you have been God's light.
And that light must continue to shine, "God Said" I have chosen you; you are mine.
You're older and think there's nothing more you can do.
God needs me; He needs you.
The hurting need to hear a kind word from you today.
Others having a difficult day; for them you could pray.
The devil would like for you to believe you are through, And there is nothing more for God you can do. We are not too old for God to use, one and all.
He will speak; on your life He has placed a call.
Just be available; God will send someone by.
Maybe all that person needs is a smile, a hug or a "hi".
Someone discouraged God might send your way.
Or God might send you to visit them today.
Now that you are older your wisdom is so in need.
Giving good advice for the day can be your good deed.
God will give you wisdom in what to do or say.
Your words can help those struggling along the way.
Don't worry if today He doesn't send someone by, There is someone God has heard their desperate cry.
Just trust in God and pray,
Maybe a wayward soul you can help along the way.
God never thinks you are too old to be used.
He needs you to help the lonely and the abused.
You are God's child, He really loves you.
You are not too old; there is so much yet you can do.
