

Lord God Almighty

Written by Philip C. Vinson
Sunday, 29 June 2008 23:34 -

I am the Lord God Almighty, I am not petty or flighty.
I do not take matters lightly,
I look after my creation daily and nightly.
There was a purpose behind each thing I did,
It was for man, nothing good from him did I keep hid.
I had a plan; what I wanted him to do, Before the creation I had already thought of you.
I created man to live in peace,
I gave him life that would never cease.
But man chose death, by the decision he made, Now a price for sin had to be paid.
Into the world Christ came to bring light, It is now up to man to choose wrong or right.
There is no longer an excuse for sin, All must come to Him to enter in.
He gives life to all that will come, Eternal life He offers to everyone.
Your life He wants to change,
Life for death, don't you want to exchange?
His love is far greater than you know.
In sin why do you continue to go?
He reaches down to where you are, For me that was very far.
The decision is still yours to make.
Sin will catch up with you make no mistake.
In the new earth only righteousness will reign, Christ will be here, never will there be sin again.